Profile Summary

I am a senior frontend developer with 6 years of on-the-job experience.

Over the years, I've worked with fast-paced startups where speed, adaptability, and individual ownership were key, as well as with large companies operating across multiple countries where accuracy, coordination, and timely delivery were crucial. My experience spans both in-country and fully remote teams. I bring strong expertise in both web and mobile development, along with a solid understanding of backend systems. In short, I'm a versatile, all-round professional who takes pride in delivering quality work and genuinely enjoys what I do.
